Prominent family of 6 lives in a drain pipe —

“...MY CHILDREN ENJOY EATING SAND...”

LIVING IN HORROR, the four starving children were captured in this exclusive WWN photograph.

The Singh family in Punjab, India was put out of their tiny dwelling—when they failed to meet their rent payment by two days.

With nowhere to go, and four tiny babies crying for warmth, P.K. and R.L. Singh took shelter in the only available space—a drain pipe behind the soccer stadium in downtown Punjab. The pipe was over 100 feet long, but only 4"×6" wide.

City officials have consented to let them stay, but the cramped quarters are beginning to affect the family adversely.

"We all feel very cramped. The babies—What about the babies? Have people no compassion? Who will help us? We will die. We all will die. If you were here, you would probably die, too. Yes, you would die, too. How would you like that? You wouldn't, would you? No, of course not," said sickened Singh, 20.

The remarkable family does have something in their favor; Ripley's Believe It or Not added the Singh family to their 300th edition. They have been listed on page 18 as "The Worm Family."

"What do they mean, 'worm?'," asked miserable Mrs. Singh. "What do they mean by this?"

City officials gave the family a key to the city for their achievement in the recent Ripley book. It was taken back by officials, however, when Singh attempted to cash it in for food money.

"The Singhs are now a prominent family in our fine community, because of the book and everything...but this does not excuse the cavalier attitude about the honor we bestowed upon him," said a town official.

"You think this is easy?," asked Singh. "You try living like this, and see how easy it is. Do you think my children enjoy eating sand for breakfast? Would you enjoy eating sand for breakfast? I think not."

Heather Thomas, star of TV's The Fall Guy, called the whole business, "Grody, really grody, you know? Like, totally awesome."

Funeral too expensive, she kills mortician

London—Sara Jones left her late husband at the Shady Tree funeral home for burial. After the ceremony, she received a bill which she felt exceeded the estimate.

She took out a .22 pistol and killed Alistair Mills, the undertaker.

Jim Smith

Jim Smith, of Northport, L.I., told his son to change his study habits or else. When Tommy Smith brought home a "C" in Physical Ed., Jim told him no TV for a week, no driving for a month, and he was to stay in his room. To make the point perfectly clear, Jim picked up his .22 pistol and shot Tommy six times.

The next day, the teacher realized the grade was incorrectly recorded, and little Tommy really got an "A"!

THOUSANDS OF SCHOOLCHILDREN STRICKEN WITH NASOHEMATOSIS

By Pete Kook

As little Carol Merrill, age 8, walked across the St. Lou Elementary School yard, she looked down and was shocked to see that her jumper was covered with — blood.

Human blood.
Her blood.

Little Winston Marcel of Brixton, England, was a normal child—Happy, carefree... Until an unsuspecting classmate rudely elbowed him in the face. That was when Winston became the victim of one of the most horrifying conditions known to man—Nasohematosi.

Nasohematosi—the word strikes fear and confusion in the hearts of those who don't know what it means.

Doctor Jordan Mainway of the University of North Dakota (Undergrad Medicine.) explains: "Nasohematosi is one of the most horrifying conditions known to man. The word comes from the latin word 'Naso' for nose, the greek word 'Hema' meaning blood and the sumerian suffix 'osis' for abnormal condition. So, essentially, it signifies an abnormal condition of blood in the nose. Thousands of schoolchildren are stricken with it.

Especially if they don't stop putting their fingers up their noses."

Nasohematosi—the Nose from Hell. Bloody nose—call it what you will. When will this horror stop? God only knows.

NOW! STOP HAIR GROWTH LOSE MORE HAIR

Itchy scalp, hair loss, dandruff, very dry or oily scalp are warning symptoms of a great disease called seborrhea. To neglect these symptoms, is to invite baldness.

Seborrhea is believed caused by three parasitic germ organisms — staphylococcus albus, pityrosporum ovale, microbacillus. First, these germs infect the sebaceous glands, later they attack the hair follicles.

If you suffer from these seborrheic symptoms, you must be completely satisfied with the results in your own case.

But seborrhea can be Rushed, quickly and effectively. Today there is reason for thousands of men and women to lose their hair needlessly and prematurely to seborrhea. A few home treatments with War 's Formula, a scalp medicine, will cause hair loss. Nature is not given a chance to grow more hair for you.

WORLD WAR II WAS A GOVERNMENT BOONDOGGLE !!

By Susan Jamison

World War II could have been won by the United States for $1.25 instead of for millions of dollars!

That's the opinion of noted psychic Luce E. Goosey, in an exclusive interview with the Weekly World News.

Goosey, a longtime resident of Allahabad, India, said, "If the US had bought my book then, they could have found out about the psychic aura that comes from Narwhals."

Narwhals are an arctic whale-like mammal that lives under the Bering Strait. Says Goosey, "Narwhals have a psychic aura that enables them to turn ships into jelly beans. If we had harnessed these narwhals, and put them in a ring around our coasts, we'd have won the war in nothing flat. One blast from a narwhal, and zap... goodbye, Japanese navy!

"But those ninnies at the Pentagon wouldn't listen to me, hah! Now, it would cost twenty million dollars to get Narwhals together, to face the deadly Russian threat."

Goosey trembles when he talks of what he needs. "Just give me twenty million dollars, in cold cash, and we can send the Commies right back to hell where they came from."

Pentagon spokesmen said, "You been talking to that nut again... Oh jeez, he wasn't even born when World War II took place!"

"Little do they know," says Goosey.

Had this option been taken, millions of dollars could have been saved for vital projects, like enlarging Erik Estrada's muscles.

NOTED AUTHORITY REVEALS NEIGHBORHOOD CHURCH TERRORIZED BY FIRE-BREATHING DRAGONS

By Susan Jamison

The parishoners of the Church de la Playa in the tiny village of La Costa, Peru are fighting a deadly foe in an attempt to worship as they please.

Their battle is one in which their faith is being tested for all it can withstand. But it is not governmental forces or any force of this Earth that is keeping them from their congregation. For the past six months, their little house of worship has been the target of mischievous dragons.

The intolerant, inferno-inciting lizards have proven a formidable foe for the villagers. Every time they rebuild their church, the dragons burn it down again.

"Each night I pray that these Hell-borne creatures will allow us to live in peace," said the local priest, Roberto Ventana. "If I had not seen them with my own eyes, I would not have believed it."

"This is not really an uncommon phenomenon in a rural area such as this," said Dr. Togar Rahim, head of a team of dragonologists that is investigating the case.

"Often," said Rahim, "the dragons are sent by God as a test of the congregation's strength."

At least one member of the congregation agrees with Dr. Rahim—Jose Jimenez said that he actually spoke with one of the dragons, and that the dragon said to him, "I am here to test the strength of your congregation."

So far, they have had to rebuild their church 14 times.

"We will persevere, but this is truly a grating experience," said Ventana.

Artist's rendering of the horrifying scene.

ED ANGRY: MY AMERICA COLUMN

Yesterday, I went to have a chat with my uncle, O. Verly Potty, and found him with a picture of Argentina's President Galtieri.

It does my heart good to visit my uncle, O. Verly Potty. He was in all the action. And then after that, he was in combat.

"Boy, he was weak, Eddie boy," he told me. "In my day, I wouldn't have just surrendered like that to a bunch of British monarchist punks. I'd have gone on fighting, like we did on Bataan."

He was right again. By gum, if we'd sent US boys down to those islands, we'd have made Argentina look bad, all right. We'd have beaten the pinko Argentinians and the pinko British, but what can you expect from those cocaine-sniffing little illiterates who pretend to be the great fightin' army we had on Bataan?

"But I'll tell you, Ed. That MacArthur. He made only one visit to Bataan. Only one! We used to call him 'Dugout Doug.'"

I couldn't believe it... My uncle, O. Verly Potty, making a crack about a truly great American, General of the U-nited States of America Army, Douglas Jesus MacArthur. My uncle, was becoming one of those traitors, one of those lefties who's poisoning America.

How many times have I had to fight for America against those disco-dancing women who laugh at marriage, and Jesus Christ, and from those neo-Soviet pinkos who criticize our wonderful allies, like South Korea and El Salvador and Haiti, and undermine the US of A army?

Why, I couldn't just let my uncle get away with that kind of treasonable traitorous remark.

Then I let him have both barrels, just like John Wayne in Halls of Montezuma. O. Verly Potty, that communist menace, flipped over on his stomach and died.

So my lesson for this week is, if somebody in your home makes a traitorous comment like J. Edgar Hoover went to the track too much, or we made a mistake in fighting the Vietnam war, or that any music written after 1947 is good, like George C. Scott said in Patton, "You'll know what to do."

You raise both barrels, and let 'em have it. Thank God we live in a free America, where we have the right to defend ourselves from communists. And tell the truth.

He sells luxury limo —for basket of figs

By Pete Kook

His neighbors call him "Crazy Al" because of Albert Lee's eccentricities. Lee's wacky antics through the years have included coming to a Halloween party as a human torch, stealing baseballs from the local little league supply room and eating them, and insisting for months at a time that he was patriot Nathan Hale.

Colorful activities have always been Al's trademark to the townfolk in the suburb of Devonshire, Scotland, but they all insist that this time Al has really flipped his lid.

Last month, Al traded his $80,000 Mercedes-Benz in a wacky deal to a local farmer for a basket of figs. Estimated value of the figs? 39 cents!

CRAZY Al Lee.

"I don't know what the hell's wrong with him, but if he wants to be a schmuck, I'm not going to be the one to stop him," said farmer Brown, leaning out of the sunroof top of his new Mercedes.

"I know that I'm sure as hell happier with this new car than I'd be with a few figs."

Loony Lee told neighbors that he wanted the figs very badly. He also said that he never had a good head for business.

"We thought that nothing could possibly be worse than when he was Nathan Hale," said one woman about her nutty neighbor, "but now he topped himself for good!"

Haircut too short, he kills barber

Floyd Smith told his San Jose barber to leave his hair long in the back and short on the top and sides.

When Mr. Fowler, the barber, held up the mirror to show Floyd the length in the back, Floyd thought it was about a half-inch too short. After refusing to pay, Smith pulled a .22 pistol from his coat and killed Fowler.

HERE'S WHAT I THINK

By Jimbo Bullhead

I was sitting around, a few months back, watching the Olympics with my old buddy, Bubba Stonewall. We took a gander at the opening ceremonies and some of the events, and then, during the polevaulting, Bubba turned to me and said:

"How come, the Olympics are the biggest thing in sports, and all they got are these pansy events?"

Now, at the time, I just kind of shrugged and laughed. But since then, I've been thinking about what Bubba said, and after a while, I began to realize that he was right.

Why is it that all you ever see in the Olympics is a bunch of limp-wristed pretty boys prancing around a track and throwing frisbees? Where are the real sports—like women's mudwrestling or full-contact karate? How come they never show any men's sports?

Well, I wrote to one of those bigwigs who's in charge of the Olympics and asked him my question. The guy didn't even dare to face up to me himself. Instead, I got a letter from the wayward strumpet he calls an "administrative assistant." She said that the Olympic games "are a symbol of international brotherhood" and that "female mudwrestling would not be in keeping with the spirit of the games." Ha! We all know how that hussy got her job.

Women should stay out of things they know nothing about. If women got out of sports and stuck to their natural jobs, cooking and having babies, we'd all be better off.

And that's what I think.

"Watch out world," said the threatening thug, "because I am going to murder everybody by biting into their flesh, and then kick them inside out until they are a bloody pulp, and then I am going to gouge their eyes out and eat them for breakfast."

"He's telling the world to watch out, because he says he's going to murder everybody by biting into their flesh, and then kick them inside out until they are a bloody pulp, and then he says he's going to gouge their eyes out and eat them for breakfast," said a Yorkshire, England policeman.

CRAZED LOOK as Crowley thinks about shopping.

Crazed Aussie Stalks Town To Survive

By Don Dickovan

Blonde-haired Constantine Crowley decided that he would walk to a neighborhood supermarket—to buy some food.

"In this day and age it's a rare thing for people to walk to the supermarket," said one of Crowley's neighbors in Canberra, Australia.

"Just about everybody uses a car, because you need to carry so many bundles."

Crowley has walked countless miles to and from the supermarket since he moved to the town five years ago. His bachelor pad is located approximately 1.5 miles from the Descartes Supermarket.

He usually has pretty good luck when he shops. But the shifting shopper sometimes slips.

"It usually takes me an hour when I visit the market, but this one time it took me about an extra half hour," said confused Con, 35.

He said that the painful problem arose when a can of corn that was marked 40 cents was supposed to be on sale for 35 cents. "I got into a big argument because they were trying to cheat me, and that's all there was to it."

But Crowley doesn't let such problems get to him. He will probably keep walking to the supermarket, whenever his cupboard gets bare.

"Look, you have to eat to survive. I don't like driving my car if I don't really have to. So, I always walk to and from the supermarket."

SECRETARY ENSLAVED

BY DEVIL

AND FORCED

INTO WACKY

HORROR!

By Watts A. Toya

"I was forced to sort paperclips...by the Devil!" sobbed blonde, curvaceous, 26-year-old secretary Margaret Tremble.

Tremble entered a world of terror and files when she answered an ad placed in the Jersey Journal last year. Little did the 26-year-old native of Union City realize that she was going to work for the Devil!

When Margaret answered the ad for a secretary, the interview was held deep in a swamp in East Rutherford, New Jersey. There, a man calling himself "The Devils' General Manager," asked Tremble if she could type, file, and take messages.

"I don't know what came over me...but I agreed to take the job!" cried the blue-eyed typist. Her job was to keep a record on souls that the Devil had marked for movement to hell.

Tremble explained how this hellish conspiracy worked. "These heartless devils would look around all of Canada and America for young men, and then entice them to sell their souls for money and cars...if they were selected and bought, these poor kids, 18-year-old boys, would then be sent to bases where they would be trained...to become demons!"

According to Tremble, the devil would have freckle-faced American boys turned away from Jesus Christ and forced to kill each other with sticks, so that they could be in charge of security in hell.

"It was horrible. Every day I had to do something to these boys...send them more sticks...write up reports on how they did in these training centers, and then advance them to the top battleground!"

This den of sin and iniquity was an arena in East Rutherford, where the Devil's slaves would beat up young Christian boys from other American towns, before a screaming crowd of punks.

"Every game, there were 40,000 punks in the audience...sometimes I had to count how many there were...they'd scream, yell, drink, have fights..."

Tremble said that these games were designed to make people convert to the Devil. "All these people, getting so involved in it, would lose sight of our Lord and Saviour, like I did, and become...Devil fans!"

Eventually Tremble survived this torture, and quit. "My fate was easier than others...many of these Devils are maimed for life when they fight these battles, and get 'put on waivers to obtain their unconditional release!'"

Tremble is now living in Union City again with her mother, Patricia Tremble, who said, "I don't know what gets into kids these days...I mean, Margaret's very sensitive. Why, I wouldn't let her out of her room until she was 22, and only then for a drink of water, but after what she's told me, I think all mothers should keep their children at home, safe from these punks."

Margaret's advice to the youth of today? "Save yourselves if you can...root for the Rangers or the Islanders."

Beastly hag from Hell enters beauty pageant

— "Am I Not Gorgeous?," pathetic witch asks horrified crowd

By Susan Jamison

When Hilda LaFemme stepped on the runway to take her place among the other 49 contestants in the Miss Ankara contest in Turkey, the hall was swept up in a wave of rioting and death.

The sight of hideous Miss LaFemme in a bikini, called "a thing sent from Satan" by one of the judges, sent the crowd into a frenzy. Tables were thrown, knives and guns were drawn, and a general state of chaos carried the day.

No amount of coaxing from pageant officials could calm the madmen, driven out of their minds by the beast who ruined their fun.

"I seen ugly bitches before, but I swear this thing was sent from Hell," said one astonished spectator.

"I heard somebody say she was from Hell or something, and I believe it," said another.

Police at the scene said that when LaFemme walked on the stage, instantaneous rioting followed. At least 13 deaths and 21 injuries were reported as a result.

It has not yet been discovered how LaFemme was able to enter the contest. Judges said that LaFemme, at age 85, was more than 60 years older than the average contestant. Miss LaFemme has no teeth.

"This I cannot understand. Would not these men enjoy to lick my spinal cord? Why must games be played? I may be little old, but am I not gorgeous?," said lurid LaFemme.

WOMEN IN ORSK often chew on balsa wood.

Top Doctors Warn:

You Should Chew On Balsa Wood

Most adults don't try chewing on balsa wood and end up spending their lives feeling deprived, according to an expert.

Dr. Io Shack, a professor of psychiatry and behavioral sciences at a university, said 75 percent of all adults in the U.S. suffer from some balsa wood deficiency.

"Most adults need more balsa," Shack said. "Most adults are chronically balsa-deficient. The elderly are more deficient."

Shack said many older folks have trouble chewing on balsa wood because of pains and wrongly believe they need less balsa wood.

"Lack of daytime balsa wood chewing is the most important symptom. If you are not chewing while reading, during a movie or TV, if you are not chewing in the daytime for any reason, you need to be examined."

Pet Chat

By I.M. Brown

Dear Pet Chat:

My dog has a problem. It likes to rip the clothes off people, and then lick their genitals. It sounds sick, I know. But what am I supposed to do? Usually when it happens, everyone is too embarrassed to say anything. So we usually just act like it's not happening when poochie starts lapping away. Should I punish him for doing this? Or should my friends and I just grin and bear it?

Moist and Uncomfortable
Hartford, Conn.

Dear Moist and Uncomfortable:

I'm not too sure how to handle this particular problem, but I could tell you what to do when having guests over for brunch.

Ideally, brunch should be served sometime around 11:30 a.m. Keep in mind, however, whether the desired meal is to be a late breakfast, an early lunch, or both. Once the time is determined, the rest is easy!

Table settings should be basic. A host should not attempt to overwhelm when serving brunch. A simple floral arrangement will provide an appropriate centerpiece.

As is the case with the table setting, the meal should be kept fairly basic. French toast is always my favorite, served with chilled fruit and perhaps—to be a bit daring—a glass of white wine.

Remember, simplicity is crucial when hosting the successful brunch.

Dear Pet Chat:

My dog has no legs. Whenever we want to take it for a walk, we have to pull it along like one of those Slinky Hippos. It's not a very big dog, and we could probably carry it, but it has a really gross running sore near the base of its spine that we don't want to touch. Do they have artificial limbs for dogs?

My Dog Has Fleas
Jamaica, N.Y.

Dear Fleas:

Getting ketchup out of an almost-empty bottle can be a problem if you don't know how to handle it. But it is actually a problem with a very simple solution.

To start, hold the bottle in your hand. Secure the cap tightly on the bottle, point the top of the bottle away from you, and proceed to swing your arm in a full circular motion. The centrifugal force will push the ketchup towards the opening.

Just remember that now you have the opposite problem of what you started with. Now the ketchup will be coming out as soon as you twist the cap off. So remember—be careful!

Dear Pet Chat:

I have a cat named Pin Cushion, and you would not believe how cute she is. We named her Pin Cushion because when she was a little kitty, she used to love to play with this apple-shaped pin cushion that I have. She loves to always run around and jump, and she purrs and meows whenever she's trying to tell you something. Yes sir, she's a real cutie-pie.

Happy in Ottawa

Dear Happy:

You'd be surprised how simple it can be to make your very own pin cushions. Here are some simple steps:

1. Materials that you will need are: a styrofoam ball, a small patch of fabric, and some thread. (All items are available at most fabric stores.)

2. Mold the styrofoam into the desired shape, cover it with the fabric, then cut and sew. It's so simple, you won't believe it.

3. You may want to experiment. The apple-shaped design, for example, could be enhanced with green fabric and yarn. Just think how much nicer it would look to have an apple pin cushion with little leaves, a little stem, and maybe even a little fake worm!

4. Stick the finished product with pins, and your cushion is in action. Hours of use, and for such a minimal effort.

Dear Pet Chat:

I thought that my parakeet had a tumor, so I tried to help it by pulling a bump off its head with a pair of pliers. I lit a match to the pliers before I started, so it wasn't like it was unsterilized or anything. The only problem was that when I started tugging at the bump, I heard something crack in its neck. There was a lot of blood, too, but I put a band-aid on it quick. I know it's still alive, because it's laying at the bottom of its cage, chirping softly. What should I do?

Plier Trouble
Detroit, Michigan

Dear Trouble:

Sorry, I can't help you with that one. But tell me honestly—Haven't you ever wondered how to get the dust out of the little nooks and crannies of things on the knick-knack shelf? . . . Like those ornate cactus-shaped salt & pepper shakers from Mexico?

There are three basic methods for cleaning little valuables, and it's up to you to find the one that works best for you. They are as follows:

1. Soak them in a sink filled with water, and perhaps add a little detergent.

2. Blow them clean with a hair dryer.

3. Brush them with cotton swabs ("Q-Tips").

No more dust problems for you, that's for sure. Happy cleaning!

Hollywood Superstar Tony Curtis Flips for "Little Miss Sunshine"

By KITTY Mac

Tony Curtis, 58, is madly in love with diseased 14-year-old Rose Scabb, and has asked her to become wife #4. When once asked about Rose, Curtis exclaimed, "I'm in love with the most wonderful girl!" Curtis' new love Rose has a rare disease called "Pustula Blisteritis," which causes the body's joints to fuse together and causes the skin to blister and scar terribly, even from the slightest pressure.

Rose's skin is covered with sores and blisters, her legs and arms are bent like an old woman's, her teeth have fallen out, and she talks like a squealing pig. Despite Rose's horrible disease, Curtis says that he loves her, "even though she's a human boil."

Most couples in love hug and kiss, among other things, but Tony and Rose are forced to have very little physical contact, due to the disease. They are still, however, able to be affectionate. According to Curtis, "Sometimes Rose's blisters and boils pop, and I suck out the puss. This turns me on to no end. She's quite a bitch."

Rose earns her nickname "Little Miss Sunshine" when she is able to cheer up the people around her who are depressed about her disease. Curtis says that

"when I'm upset about Rose's disease, she puts her arm around my shoulders, gives me a kiss, and gently whispers in my ear, 'Please, my sweet bastard, don't worry about me.'"

The romance between Tony and Rose will soon evolve into a marriage, according to close friends.

TOT POSSESSED BY TWO DEMONS FROM HOLLYWOOD HELL

Twelve-year-old Christina Blofeld is possessed by two demons. Her young, nubile body is being shared by the spirits of dead TV superstars Wally Cox and Arthur Godfrey.

This startling phenomenon began on the stormy night of April 1st, 1983, when lovely Christina rose off the ground while watching television and shouted, in a wimpy voice, "What happened to Hollywood Squares?! Let me speak to Peter Marshall!!"

The next manifestation of this horrible occurrence was the sudden loss of sweet Christina's 20-20 vision. The child's mother, Agatha Blofeld, wept when she said, "The worst part came when she demanded horn-rimmed glasses. I was willing to buy her contacts, but she wouldn't hear of it!"

Things became worse. Christina began losing her hair, and only came out of her room to watch "Underdog." A specialist was called in. William Christopher, well known for his portrayal of Father Mulcahy on the TV series M*A*S*H, inspected the girl and verified the spirit as the late Wally Cox. It wasn't long before Christina began to look completely like Wally Cox did in his "Mr. Peepers" days.

Christopher also suspected that there was not one, but two personalities inhabiting the poor girl's body, and the second demon was none other than famed radio and T.V. broadcaster Arthur Godfrey. "I was tipped off," Christopher said "by the strange grunting sounds that came from the girl and the exclamation, 'La Rosa, you bastard, I'll fire you again if you ever make another tearful appearance on the Jerry Lewis Telethon!'"

Soon after Christopher heard Godfrey's horrible voice he noticed something sprouting up on Christina's left shoulder. To everyone's horror, it turned out to be the head of Arthur Godfrey. Now, poor young Christina had two heads, and neither one of them were her own!

Christopher said that he could have cured the girl, but before he had the chance, the William Morris agency intervened and now, with the consent of her family, little Christina will be touring the nation as the opening act for Joan Rivers, David Brenner, and Vic Damone. She also will be making guest appearances on "Love Boat" and "Fantasy Island," portraying Tattoo's parents on the latter.

INCREDIBLE HORROR OF ISLAND RULED BY QUEEN...

AND DICTATORSHIP OF PUNKS!

Scientists have discovered a horrifying fact...that there is an island off the coast of Europe held in terror by punks and human scum!

56 million people live in this island, at the mercy of this Queen, who lives in a huge palace in the capital city, called London. The palace doesn't have the chic design of the great Elvis Presley's palace, Graceland, in Memphis, U.S.A.

But the sad horror of life for many of these Britons is life at the hands of punks!

But now punks are terrorizing these simple people and making it impossible for them to send these stories out to a waiting world.

"It's a bloody outrage," says George Smitherton. "Every time I want to tell the world about how UFOs turned my sister into a penguin, I read where punks shoot some women in Cardiff, and I have to write a letter to the Times, and lock my door. It's terrifying. I'm afraid to come out."

Among other sicko, un-American things, punks have forced Britons to:

- Change the good ol' red, white and blue flag of the US into a flag with Red, white and blue crosses!

- Force grown men to wear skirts at a province called Scotland!

- Make judges in courts figures of fun by having them wear wigs!

- Make drivers drive on the left hand side of the road!

- Use kilometers instead of inches!

- These heartless punks have even flooded the country with rain!

- Finally, they have made life a misery for world-famous Princess Di.

Dear Gert:

Dear Gert:

I don't know who to turn to with my rather unusual problem. You're my only chance. I sincerely hope that you can help me.

Some time ago, I began to realize that I was not meant to be trapped in a man's body. The feeling grew over a number of years, and last year, I decided to have a sex-change operation. At first, I was deliriously happy with the new me, but now, I've begun to wonder whether or not I've done the right thing.

Please help me, Gert.

Confused,
Hoboken, NJ

Dear Confused,

Now you're wondering if you did the right thing?! Listen, sicko, if the Lord God Almighty had meant for you to be a woman, you wouldn't have needed an operation! You've made your bod. Now lie in it.

P.S. I hope the doctor at least had the decency to skip the anesthetic!

Wonderful Person

Dear Gert:

I have followed your column faithfully for more than fifteen years and I'd rather die than live without it. When I see the salvation you've brought to the poor unfortunates who write to you, I thank God that people like you exist.

All I can say is thank you, Gert. Thank you.

Grateful,

Dear Grateful,

I am the one who should be grateful—grateful that good, caring people like yourself follow my column so faithfully. It warms my heart to know that there are people who read my column and are able to derive benefit from my humble efforts.

Thank you, Grateful. Thank you.

"Am I Stupid?"

Dear Gert:

I'm ten years old and I have a problem at school. All the kids at school (especially that dumb old Marky) keep calling me names like "stupid" and "dummy." What can I do about it?

Unpopular,
Seattle, Wash.

Dear Unpopular,

In America, the majority rules, so if all the kids keep calling you "stupid," it's probably because you are. If I were you (and it's a good thing I'm not), I'd sit down and take a good, hard look at myself...if I had the guts, that is.

Sizzling Romance
for Boozers
Troy Donahue
and
Peter Lawford

Hollywood has-beens Troy Donahue and Peter Lawford have found happiness with one another, and credit their romance due to their love for alcohol. When bloated Peter Lawford spotted bloated Troy Donahue jogging down Malibu Beach one morning, he knew he was in love.

When he saw Troy's flabby tits bouncing up and down the two became inseparable. Ever since, they've been drinking and making love together. Both Troy and Peter have drinking contests, and usually, the first one to vomit is the winner. "I'd tell you what the prize is," Troy told this reporter, "but I know this is a family paper."

Family members and fans are shocked by Troy and Peter's budding romance. Peter, however, is undaunted. "I don't give a shit about what people say," Peter courageously says. "Troy and I are drunks, and we love each other. What more could a man want?"
